WE NOMINATE

James Pentland Stewart, one of New Jersey's public-minded industrialists and a Princetonian for some two decades, who has just shouldered new responsibilities as founding board chairman of the New Jersey Citizens Transportation Council, this State's first citizen movement to "provoke comprehensive transportation action." At a time when New Jersey is caught in the grip of a bursting and crippling transportation crisis the 60-year old Stewart and 23 other prominent figures in industry and business are assuming leadership in focussing attention on the urgency of developing a coordinated system of transport, including highway, rail and air.

For the past several months Stewart, since last September the retired president of De Laval Turbine Company, Trenton, and banker Charles A. Eaton, Jr. have criss-crossed New Jersey discussing transportation problems with government and business leaders. Wherever they went in the so-called Garden State they found a sense of urgency and even a sense of despair. Time and again they heard about the highest density of automobiles per square mile among the 50 states, antiquated commuter railroad lines jolting from one crisis to the next, traffic-saturated thoroughways and more than 1,000 deaths a year on Jersey highways.

The board of the non-profit Council, the structure of which is reminiscent of the Citizens Committee for Higher Education headed by Princeton President Robert F. Goheen, is still in the process of expansion and will seek out educators, civic leaders and others with a cogent interest in transportation improvement. Among its first steps will be the establishment of a sub-committee to meet with state legislative committees, the Highway Department, and Division of Railroad Transportation; a study of Governor Hughes' bill to create an expanded Department of Transportation; and development of a committee to plan the financing of highway and rail needs.

Volunteer service in areas of controversy, in which adherents of the status quo must be prodded into action, is hardly a new experience for Stewart. Last December he was singled out for the City of Trenton's first Outstanding Citizen Award, an honor described by Trenton newspapers as "quite predictable." Stewart was cited for his major role "in the struggle to get Trenton moving forward." A listing of his public and private credits ran to impressive length. He had been a president and director of the Delaware Valley United Fund, the State Chamber of Commerce, and the Trenton Community Foundation and had helped strengthen the Trenton Symphony Association, Rider College and the National Association of the Boys' Clubs of America.

Trained at Cornell, and the recipient in 1962 of the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Rider, Stewart joined De Laval in 1916, serving successively as manager of commercial sales, vice president, executive vice president, and rising to the presidency in 1951. Although "semi-retired," Stewart is currently a senior member of the National Industrial Conference board and is completing a term as director of the National Association of Manufacturers. He is a director of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company as well as of the First Trenton National Bank, while his professional interests range from the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers to the Newcomen Society.

For never hesitating to take time from his private commitments to further the cause of public benefit; for stressing that citizen participation is an absolute necessity in our democratic society; for accepting the challenge of providing imaginative and decisive action in exploring the chaos of New Jersey's transportation environment; he is our nominee as

This Is PRINCETON

A CHRISTMAS GIFT
Me, to You. "Thank you, nice lady!" The stout echoed down the long corridor of a medical ward at Walston Army Hospital, Fort Dix.

The boy who called out his thanks was an Army private dressed to the hospital's dark blue corduroy bathrobe and laundry-worn cotton sluffs. He had been in the hospital 78 days, convalescing from pneumonia.

The lady who waved and smiled in return was Mrs. J.
Leonard Moore, 29 Westcott Road, dean of the department of enthusiasm and a dedicated Princeton woman who gives time, energy, heart and mind to the sick young men at Walston.

It is Christmas giving in its essence: the gift of self.

There are about 20 women from the Princeton area who visit Walston regularly under the auspices of Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross.
Women like this used to be called "Grey Ladies," and Mrs.
Moore has been one since before Pearl Harbor, but the Ladies of the Red Cross who visit to Walston now are anything but Grey, and the term is gradually being dropped.

The women from Princeton go to the hospital for the whole day, on Monday, Thursday or Friday. It's an easy 45-minute drive. Friday is the day the Red Cross needs most people, and women who would like to participate are invited to call the Red Cross for an interview.

All beginners take a two-and-one-half hour course for two mornings. That's all the instruction needed. The rest is sensitivity to human need, an alert eye and a knack for saying by eye, so far as the needs of the young patients are concerned.

Reading, Avenue? "Brain
as food here!" Mrs. Moore calls as she pushes her library book cart into the medical ward.

The young men, in bathrobes hunched slowly, picking and choosing: Faulkner, a James Bond, poems by John Ciardi, Banter and jokes, or sometimes just a listening symphonic car, mean more to these

WHOSE MOVE? A card game or a fast whiz of checkers is usually in progress in the recreation room at Walston Army Hospital, Fort Dix. Mrs. Ashby Adams (left center) and Mrs.
Hymas Battle are two of the Princeton-area women who go to the hospital under the auspices of the Red Cross, to keep up sadder morale. See "This Is Princeton."

young men than anyone knows
—except the Red Cross ladies.
They sense the wonderful
"hum on wry" attitude of the American soldier and their response is warm and quick.

"I never learned how to read," one boy teases Mrs.
Moore.

"Okay, I'll send a blende to teach you!" she teases back.

"Aw, it'd just be Dick!"
—the blond medical co-pam on the ward.

"I own stock in a bomb company; it's up 175%!"—this from a tense man, older than the rest. The pneumonia patient keeps saying, "I been here 78 days and I still got this spot in my chest."

"You got any apples? I sure would like an apple," asks one quiet youngster on a bed. Mrs.
Moore peers at him closely.
"You look better!" she says, and he brightens—a little.

As she pushes her cart out the door, she promises to pass along the request for apples.
And she decides to tell the professional Red Cross worker that this ward is stir-crazy and needs games and recreation.

I Need a Stamp. Mrs. John Perrine makes the service cart with its stationery and paper-backs—everything free except postage stamps.
The boys are perched idly

on their beds as she enters:
"Anybody want anything?"
"Got any discharge papers?"
is a quick reply.

A blond, rangy kid with a Mississippi accent says shyly:
"It's a nice hospital, ain't it?"

The orthopedic wards, their young patients in Procrustean traction, are heart-rending; but Mrs. Moore points out that most patients got that way in motor-cycle accidents.

One boy, flat on his back, watches TV through special prism glasses contributed by the Princeton Red Cross.

Few patients are from Viet Nam: only 15-25 at any one time in a hospital which processed 25,000 patients in the first ten months of 1966.

Red Cross women say the Viet Nam patients are the most wonderful in the hospital.
"They minimize their complaints more than the others," observes Mrs. Lester Barlow, and Mrs. John R. Burdick adds quietly, "The boys from Viet Nam are never bitter;
they all want to go back."

"You Sometimes Break Through." The psychiatric ward is a heart-breaker, too, and it is here that personal touches are particular vital.
Mrs. C. Lawrence Day, for example, spent three weeks playing ping-pong with a psychiatric patient who seemed to need a ping-pong partner more than anything in the world.

"Sometimes you feel for just a second that you've gotten close to them," says Mrs. Hyman Battle. She and Mrs. Abby Adams spent all of a recent Monday helping psychiatric patients decorate their ward for Christmas.
"One boy had to leave for an appointment with his doctor before he could finish his reminder," Mrs. Battle recalls, "and he wanted to be sure we'd leave it so he could finish it himself."

Just For Fun Mrs. Battle and Mrs. Adams find that the boys enjoy a lot of what Mrs. Battle calls cornball humor. "Just sophisticated Princeton humor"—and a lot of clowning.

This pair of young Princeton matrons works in recreation, making posters, decorating, and entertaining. Once they held a panel discussion on, of all things, women's fashions.

"The guys were enthusiastic and excited," Mrs. Battle laughs. "They don't like false exclamations and they dislike misrhythms. If you can believe it. Once we had them play a game—throwing a group from bed to bed without dropping it, but you have to have an excuse all the time for what they need. If they're really sick, you can't do things like wood games. And we found one boy who had never in his whole life had a birthday cake—we'll, you know what we did about that!"

The Beat of Youth. On a Saturday, Pamela Erickson, a senior at Princeton Day School, and nine friends, took guitar and voice to the hospital for a program of songs.

"They're girls are coming one soldier abouted as he watched the singers leave one ward and start for his."

"It was really great!" Pam recalls with enthusiasm. "We sang things like 'King of the Road' and 'Donna Donna' and signed their coats and just talked."

"You know," she adds, "we're so near their own age, they open up and talk to us—we aren't older authority figures and some boys would rather have us than a sort of mother."

Pam and her friends were going to sing Christmas carols for the boys, but "we changed our minds when we got there and started talking ..."

"There was one guy so quiet and refusing our cookies, but before we left, he was laughing and talking and having a really great time."

"No training can make us successful," Mrs. Moore says, "but people want to help with."

PAY PLAN AT IMPASSE
"Middle School" Proposed.
A deadlock in teachers' salary negotiations and a proposed "Princeton Middle School" for next fall were made public at Monday's Board of Education meeting.

Warning that there would be an increased "exodus of teachers from Princeton," Frederick Zenone, president of the Teachers Association, said, "The Board seems concerned not with ability to pay, but with the community's willingness to pay. We submit that the question is hypothetical. Princeton has never indicated an unwillingness to support the education that it expects." Teachers salaries represent about 72% of the budget.

David Brodsky, chairman of the Board's finance committee, called the Board's proposal "eminently fair." He said that the teachers' initial proposal was 22% over the present salary guide.

He told the audience that the two boards — Borough and Township — had begun an negotiations with their respective teachers' organizations early last spring, shortly after the February elections. After merger, Mr. Brodsky said, the Regional board met frequently with a newly-constituted salary committee of teachers.

"Our final proposal was endorsed by the Princeton regional Teachers' Association salary committee after a further adjustment based on negotiations," Mr. Brodsky said, "and was recommended to its constituents. The committee was not supported by its membership. No alternative to its first high grade has been proposed by the Teachers' Association."

Mr. Brodsky announced later that the Board will hold a public meeting on teachers' salaries early in 1967 — probably on January 3 or 10. The date will be announced.

Mr. Zenone said that to men teachers in particular, "mood of whom are unable to live in Princeton," it makes little sense to travel to Princeton when they can get a similar salary closer to home. "A number member of the Association asked for greater consideration of salaries of teachers in the "middle group" — i.e., employed for four to eight years in the system.

Recruiting aids by the community colleges into the ranks of high school and even elementary-school teachers were brought up by Donald Riddle. He asked the Board to review its policy of basing increases largely upon graduate degrees.

Mr. Zenone offered an open meeting of the Teachers Association if interested residents will contact him at Littlebrook or Gilbert Mortenson at Princeton High School—all members of the negotiating committee.

"Middle School." Acting Superintendent John McKenna set forth the "Princeton Middle School" concept as a program for 6th, 7th, and 8th graders centered in Community Park and Valley Road Schools. There are 800 pupils in these grades at present. No immediate construction or major modifications to the buildings would be required, he said.

"The Middle School concept extends an opportunity to our teachers and students for a smoother transition from the self-contained classroom of the lower grades to the departmentalized program of the high school."

It would be administered by a principal and two assistants, Dr. McKenna said, adding that all teachers working with these grades are now engaged in a study of curricula, flexible organization and program variety for the proposed Middle School. Home economics and shop equipment could be moved from the John Witherspoon School to the Middle School which would have two gyms, two libraries and ample playing fields.

Four Grade Schools. The proposal also envisions sending kindergarten through 5th grade to John Witherspoon, Littlebrook, Johnson Park and Riverside Schools. There are 2,200 children in these classes at present. They would be sent to "neighborhood" schools as closely as is possible in a 22 sq. mile school district," Dr. McKenna said.

The proposal is designed to avoid a building program and yet retain the following:

- More classroom space for the high school (i.e. use of the John Witherspoon science rooms) and for special education.
- Utilize all classrooms at Riverside and to alleviate overcrowding at Johnson Park.
- Maintain class size at 25.
- Achieve balanced integration pattern in each school.
- Reserve space for limited expansion of pre-kindergarten program.
- Reduce the number of times most children change school from kindergarten through high school.
- Establish an organizational design that assures greater continuity.

Santa, Santa,
Bring some snow —
Leave the rain, dear,
Ho, Ho, Ho!

The age-old question, "Why do we have a 'White Christmas'?" will be answered by Saturday, when precipitation is forecast. But the Man would only only say "Rain or snow" for Christmas Eve.

With temperatures running around normal for the next few days, the odds favor rain. Thursday, then, is the first day of winter, which was scheduled to arrive at 2:29 a.m.

unity, curricular programs, staff assignments and student body.

• Evolve attendance zones that will not require annual realignment.

• Accomplish organizational changes with a minimum number of popular irritants.
• Enable the staff to take advantage of new developments in instruction techniques.

Dr. McKenna opened the door slightly on the difficulties encountered in merging the Borough and Township systems when he cited among the series of current problems: "One overriding factor is the existence of two separate school systems operating under a status quo agreement even though a reorganization has become a reality."

Rocky Hill Students. The proposal does not allow for tuition students, and Dr. Harry Butberg, board president, reported that the Rocky Hill School Board has been asked to find another solution for its elementary students as well as plan to phase out its high school students.

In a meeting held approximately two weeks ago, Dr. Butberg said, the Princeton Board suggested that Rocky Hill either reevaluate its elementary school or send its students to Monticourt Township's elementary schools. There's space enough in Monticourt schools. The sending district contract runs through June 1968.

Coming Meetings. The agenda for the next public meeting, January 3, includes discussion of the Middle School proposal, decision on polling places and voting hours for the February 7 school election, and tentative approval of the 1967-68 budget. The budget will be forwarded to the County Superintendent of Schools, Jack Twitwell, for approval, and then released to the public.
There will be a public hearing on the budget on January 24.

CANDIDATES' FILE

For School Board. Three men will race for two seats in the only Princeton Regional School Board contest that has been held so far. The deadline for filing petitions is Friday, December 30, at 4 p.m.

The three are running for the two-year terms assigned by the County Superintendent of Schools to Princeton Township on the Princeton Regional School Board. They are incumbent board member Herbert Bailey, 55 Hun Road, and newcomers Winthrop S. Pike, 101 Leobrook Lane, and Carl L. Soumash, 21 Castle Howard Court.

All Township Board representatives except David Brodsky have said they will file for election, but so far, only three have done so. They are, besides Mr. Bailey, Mrs. Suzanne Freeman of 311 Western way, uncommitted candidate for the single three-year Township term on the Regional Board, and Charles Jaffin, 522 Roseale Road, who has filed for the single one-year Township term. He is unchallenged so far, also.

One Gift Come from Austria — Will You Help, Too?

From the 1966 TOWN TOPICS Christmas Appeal

"The boy's custody is awarded to the father." Fortunately for 14-year old Sam his father, a 40-year old laborer, confided to his employer that he didn't know how to "create a home" for his son. The mother had rejected both father and son, for Sam invariably found himself on his father's side even when his mother was fighting about the father's drinking.

"The social worker had to determine the father's strengths and weaknesses. For instance, was he an alcoholic? As the father told his story, it became apparent that he had been a heavy drinker but that his apathy had been rooted in his wife's incredible financial demands and in her frequent threats of separation. Now that the nurse had happened and he was alone with Sam he began to find that life could be free of violent quarrels, that he loved his son deeply and was eager to be a father to him.

"Family Service will continue to work closely with this devoted pair as the father learns to hold the balance, when so hard for parents of adolescents, between setting restrictions when needed and giving responsibility and their concomitant rewards when earned."

One Princeton family sending a year abroad sent its annual contribution from Austria. Together with others received during the past week, the Christmas Fund has reached $206.35. More gifts are essential if the larger-than-usual number of cases listed in TOWN TOPICS are to receive assistance.

As it has in the past, TOWN TOPICS welcomes gifts made in the form of Christmas presents to a friend or relative. It will be glad to send word of such contributions to the individual so honored.

Contributions may be mailed to TOWN TOPICS, P.O. Box 664, Princeton, or brought to its office at 4 Street. Checks should be made payable to the Town of Princeton Christmas Fund.

weeks and found a few more de-compositions to add to the P.D.Q. Bach program, due at McCarter next Thursday, December 29, at 8:30.

"Eine Kleine Nichtmusik" is one, and a "Sonata for Violin, Four Hands" is another. In addition, the P.D.Q. Bait Festival Orchestra and the Okay Chorus will perform the "Prickles and Peas" ("Hair Piece") from "The Civalian Barber."

P.D.Q. Bach is the invention of Peter Schickel, a former — former — instructor at the Juilliard School of Music who decided a few years ago that parody is the sincerest form of art. He has since presented P.D.Q. to delighted audiences in many cities. Tickets are still available for the McCarter concert, although the balcony has been sold out.

800-YEAR-OLD HIT
Now Playing, It was the New York Times that first called "The Play of Daniel" a "12th century hit."

The drama, now a Christmas tradition in New York, was created originally by French students in the days of the troubadours. It will play in Alexander Hall on Saturday, January 7, at 8:30. Tickets are on sale at McCarter Theatre's box-office.

"The play of Daniel" was brought back to life in 1938 by Noah Greenberg of the New York Pro Musica, and the cast that will come to Princeton features regular soloists of Pro Musica's concert ensemble, plus characters from the "Church of the Transfiguration" and 30 other costumed actors and singers.

Pour a Little Glow for the Holidays

Christmas cheer is much the same no matter what liquor store you patronize, but each store has its own food specialty of the season, guaranteed to make 1966 a vintage Christmas.

Nassau Liquors (Yeoman's), The Galliano set, with long thin bottle of liqueur and four long thin glasses, boxed at $6.25.

Cellar, The 12-bottle Tytell Europa wine selection comes in a holiday gift cartouche for under $25, the 12-bottle connoisseur selection, in wooden box, $41.95.

Wine and Game, House of Lord's gin, in the fifth size, comes with four brandy-glasses, each with red lion insignia for "on the rocks" service.

Cosmas, Liqueur made from distilled raspberries, is a startling pure white. They tell us it takes 10 bushels of raspberries to make a single bottle, so sip slowly.

Claridge, De Kuyper's chocha mendice and Koffie ments are new this year: $4.49.

Varsity, Swack "Slivovitz" is a plum brandy of Hungarian descent, made in Budapest since 1870 and now made in this country by the same family using the same recipe.

IT'S NEW To Us

A TIME FOR FEASTING

And for Giving. Browse for a while in the food and drink shops of the town, and you'll take home packages for Christmas dinner and New Year's Eve parties, as well as the food delicacies you're going to give to friends.

Most of the shops have ready-made congregations of cheese and tea, cookies and marmalade, but you can always make up your own to suit a special friend's special taste.

sorted chocolates and Canadian shortbread on a useful tray, and ties the whole with a big bow: $11.50.

A smaller, Maas gift package, $7.75 contains dates stuffed with nuts, half a pound of assorted chocolates, Christmas mints and under it all, a happy little Dutch plate in blue and white.

Ready-packaged cheeses on trays or in baskets are all in a row at the Nassau Deli and the variety is limitless. For example, you must buy a tray of cocktail snacks from Cresco, or the 12 little jam jars that hold such delectables as cherry jelly or lemon marmalade, besides the usual jams you'd expect.

Have a Cup? Test! Buy three samplers for $1, or most lavish tin of Hu Kwa or Kardomah, almost too precious to drink, but certainly a present to bring a gasp of pleasure from the connoisseur.

S.S. Pierce sends the Del a deep red lacquer Chinese tea caddy, with charming traditional figures painted on it in gold. It contains 100 Red Label bags of Orange Pekoe.

The Del's own Christmas now goes on top of it: a $7.75 gift package with assorted fancy nuts, imported cookies, and chocolate from Tobler and Wallace.

The Food Mart spreads braided cheese and cheese, and a processed cheese kneaded with cognac. The Jarlsburg cheese comes in buns. The Monterey Jack comes—ready to eat.

At The Gourmet, the crock of Fromage Maison is a year-round favorite, but especially so at Christmas. Samplers of tea, jam, sausage or bonies are interesting gift possibilities at this shop.

We look home a can of reindeer meatballs from The Food Mart and they were delicious. Watch out for sniffer bones. The diamond-back rattlesnake at the Food Mart is safely in a can, so don't be alarmed. Cold, with a bit of mayonnaise, mmmmm?

Gingerbread! How old is your gift list? Any age will respond to a nice gingerbread house with frosted roof and storm doors. Village Bakery in Lawrenceville, Patisserie Lahiere on Witherspoon Street and Gourmet are all in the contracting business for gingerbread houses.

Inhabitants, such as gingerbread men, from Gourmet or Lahiere's. The Patisserie sells them for 50c, good big nine-inch petalier. At Gourmet, gingerbread men are full-size, too, but there are minature gingerbread boys for small appetites.

Swedish, German or Central New Jersey cookies could go into Gourmet's Swedish three-er cookie bin. Be sure one in blue enamel for $7.50. Plus cookies, the whole gift will be about $10.

Christmas Balthus Lebkuchen are frosted and decorated. Gourmet's Baumkuchen, tree cake has a snow of frosting. The children can eat it on Christmas morning while you eat the Christmas breakfast fruit from Munich.

A Star, with frost. At Village Bakery, Christmas cookies are bells and stars, Sevens and trees, each one iced or decorated. If you want filled cookies for extra luxury, just place your order.

Christmas cookies at Lahiere's are bright with traditional, too, but there are min-

News Of The Theatres
last three weeks. In January is Murphy Theatre.
In the cast will be June Cawley, William Hucheb, Connel Margolis, Jim Margolis, Sydney Pitzer, Eric Sturtevant and Ed Yanowitz. Lorin Zisman will direct.
The comedy describes the attempts of an academic scientist and his family to conform to the way of life expected of a corporation executive.

PLAYHOUSE

Any Wednesday (now playing) is a sophisticated comedy translated from Broadway to the screen, starring Jane Fonda, Jason Robards, Dean Jagger and Rosemary Murphy. The theme is adultery and what happens when a love triangle suddenly expands into a quartet. While offering amusing use of split screens and several New York location shots, the film version never completely breaks away from the confining indoor sets of the stage play. But it makes up for the lack of action through expansive humor and excellent performances.

Robards is the business tycoon who cheats on his wife and understanding wife, Rosemary Murphy. Jane Fonda, the tycoon's mistress on Playhouse, only comes through as a looky young lady who loves hooligans, hates flowers

THE BLUE MAN: George Peppard and Ursula Andress star in an absorbing story of Germany's World War I flying ace, now at the Greenwood Theatre in Trenton.
because they die, and get up two years, he has been conducting a crusade to bring back families from the lines, calling upon theatre owners in all parts of the country and appearing at their conventions.

THE GARDEN (through this Friday) is a hair-raising adventure story, set in Africa 100 years ago, of white hunter turned hunted. And for sheer photographic impact, it offers a tour of some of the most unusual country on the earth.

Cornel Wilde is the white hunter whose client, searching for ivory, encourages a tribe of African warriors. The warriors massacre the whole safari except for Wilde. He is given a chance for survival in a deadly game in which he must run through the jungle without clothes, food, water or weapons. Wilde and his warriors pursue him like an animal. All told, about 20 minutes are devoted to the grueling chase.

The most startling scenes are ones of mass action: the torture and slaughter of the safari becomes a bizarre and frenzied orgy through the use of vivid imagery and quick cutting, and the attack by Arab slavers on the village where Wilde is hiding.

The suspense and pace of the hunt is relieved by some beautiful shots of African landscape. Locations include Shasa, Northern Transvaal, Kruger National Park, Bechuanaland and Southern Rhodesia. Many of the fascinating aspects of Africa's biological and ecological life are brought to the screen.

Parents' magazine rates the film is unsuitable for young people.
SAY HELLO TO SANTA
At Prince Theatre, Santa Claus will be on hand at the Prince Theatre at showtimes 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. He is small but he's a believer, according to Douglas Wright, theatre manager. Santa Claus is really a 34-year-old William F. Kierman, who has small arms and a big heart. The theatre will show "The Man From Button Willow" at showtimes 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. on December 28 and 29 at 1:30 p.m.

PLANS TRIP

TO SEE NEW YORK CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

Suburban Transit, by popular request announced plans to repeat its annual guided tours to the fabulous Christmas light displays in New York City. Make the trip the comfortable way they suggest. Buy a $10.00 trip restful and luxurious travel... forget the worries of fighting traffic... and above all, forget your parking problems.

Everything that stands for Christmas is magnified a thousand times in New York, says Suburban. Millions of miles of Christmas lights sparkle like candles on a giant tree, caroling out through the crisp air. Let us help you see the magnificent 65-foot tree at the Rockefeller Center. We'll show you animated store window displays that have been touched with a magic wand... we'll drive you to the city's shimmering line of trees... we'll see the wonderful Rockefeller Center's grand Plaza... we'll see the floodlit statues on Central Park South... the magnificent decorations on Park Avenue.

We will also see Macy's lovely animated Christmas window displays on 34th and 35th Street on Broadway. Suburban offers reserved seats at $2.00.

Buses will leave from Nassau and Witherspoon streets across from suburban terminal at 6 p.m. on Dec. 19, 20, 21, 22, 26, 27, 28 & 29.

Suburban Transit mentioned that the minimum number of passengers per bus will be 30. They reserve the right to cancel any trip and will make just refund if insufficient number of people purchase tickets.

Ample time will be allowed for you to visit the Tree at Rockefeller Center, the Forest of Lights at Seagram's Building, the Pink and Blue special trees (for the children), and animated displays at Macy's. The man's windows. Coffee stop will be made on return trip to Princeton.

Suburban invites you to call 924-7750 for further information.

It's Uncanny

They're turned Princeton Gourmets into a candy mess. Yes, instead of their Christmas gifts being, you may now have them canned, just like beans.

Choose the gourmet's candy cane. The shop will pack them into a can, seal it shut (there's an auxiliary plastic lid), wrap it in a coffee-can, wrap it in bright paper and send it off.

For Christmas giving, candy cane, fruitcake, mints and so on. But you could choose an apron or a shoulder, caviar or cheese biscuits. We liked an auxiliary plastic lid, wrap in paper that says "Ho, Ho, Ho," although the lavender retainer. For decoration. For decoration, the mails, the bright can is covered sedately in brown paper.

It's New To Us

ional frostings. At the Del, they love the honic preferences, and who doesn't Leibkuchen. Dutch Mokka Slik, English tea biscuits testify to the wide international contacts this shop has.

Les Delices St. Michel, with fruit atop, is probably the Del's most luxurious cookie. Charlotte Charles sugar cookies, Boston nut cookies and ginger cookies are for everybody.

Hills of Westchester sends to Louise Maas an assortment of macaroons, petit fours and rum cakes heavy with sweetens. In a new bulk cookie department, Maas has chocolate leaf cookies and pistachio leaf cookies that are almost candy. You may have three boxes as rum for 85c. Can you eat them all?

Holly cookies from Davidson's have a spring of "pearl" holly in the package. Nice for a stocking.

Make Mince Cake. Brandy has been subtly folded into Charlotte Charles' mince cake from Gourmet. Good old Charlotte is a favorite at the Del, too.

Village Bakery makes one-to-three pound fruit cakes in round or loaf form. All layer cakes have a special Christmas decoration, and the petit fours and cup-cakes are dressed for the occasion, too.

At Lahiere's, there's a Yule Log in chocolate or marzipan, studded with whipped cream, some with butter cream. Your Christmas pie might be mince-meat with rum, or, if Thanksgiving is still a happy memory, pumpkin chiffon.

Fanny Farmer is the girl at Vieid's with her holiday-branded fruit cake. At Maas, the fruit cake probably comes from Ireland, where it was liberally toasted with Irish Whiskey before export. (You may have it without whiskey, if you prefer.)

Fruit cake miniatures at Maas are ten for $2 — cute

as can be, if you want only a sous-brite when candy times around.

The Dundee fruit cake from England and the fruit cake from Denmark bring variety to the scene at Davidson's.

THAT DANDY CANDY

Chocolate. Mints. Candy-lovers will visit Louise Maas and try to choose among hard, soft or chewy, dark, light or peppermint, striped, Rose-marie's hard candies, $2.50 for a two-and-a-half pound box, will linger a long time on the tongue. The box is neatly decorated, by the way, so that peppermints don't get mixed up with lemon candy.

In bulk, Miss Maas has Christmas mints like the wreaths in red, white or green, the fat little stars, white snowflakes and halving red Santa Claus. Coconut, strawberries are a pretty addition to the Christmas. Italian chocolates are from the houses of Modia or Perugini. Modia packs the chocolates in full view of the monuments of Rome — a handsome photograph, by the way.

Another Modia package is a dark green leather book, and the final chapter is at last as anything you'll find in the library.

Perugini has fruit candies wrapped in papers colored and shaped like lemon or orange sections. From our own shores, Maas offers the Old Dominion variety, cello chocolate, in assorted variety.

Gilded fruits on display at Louise Maas are packaged with some elegance in a shallow basket. Shelled pecans have been arranged in a fan in the center for agreeable contrast.

Miss Maas' pride this year is a bequiling little donkey, all spangles, pulling a cart full of foil-wrapped chocolate balls. He seems content with his lead.

Need a Case? Those two Christmas staples, candy canes and marzipan, are everywhere. Miss Maas' candy cane is 21 full inches long and a full inch — an inch — in diameter. It's 31. She has some scaled-down canes, too, of course. Four other sizes of fruit, including a package of little ones for 30c.

Vieid's hand-rolled candy canes have a characteristic stripe of green besides the usual bright pink. Three sizes in this shop. Thorne's has three-inch candy canes in a an unsuccessful write-in campaign for the Township School Board in February, 1968, and Howard A. Fox, 140 Ham Drive.

In the Borough, incumbents Mrs. Bonnie L. Wagner, 19 Jefferson Road, Dr. Harvey Rothberg, 44 Robert Road, are so far unopposed for the Borough's two three-year terms. Robert A. Lively, 39 University Place, has filed for one of the two one-year terms assigned to the Borough. No one has filed for the Borough's single two-year spot. All Borough Board members have said they would run, but only the three named above have filed so far. The other two are E. Frederick Laschever and Thomas Moore.

IN AGAIN, OUT AGAIN

Committee Meets Briefly. Of the Township property-owners who have received their Clemishaw re-evaluations, about 10% have decided to talk it over with Clemishaw representatives at Township Committee.

Township Committee. William L. Wilson said Monday night that the Clemishaw firm usually gets questions from 10-15% of the property owners.

Mr. Wilson commended Township Magistrate Glen Miller for his role in getting the county to widen and straighten the Kingston bridge. Mr. Miller has written to county officials frequently, bringing to their attention the number of accidents on the old bridge.

It was the farewell meeting for Committee members Russell Mount and Walter B. Foster, whose terms expire at the end of the year. Township Committee and its two new members, John Wallace and David Thompson, will hold its re-organizational meeting on Monday, January 2, at noon in Township Hall.

Hospital's Role. After Monday night's brief meeting—less than half an hour—Committeemen met privately with John W. Kaufman, administrator of Princeton Hospital, and George Conover, president of the hospital's Board of Trustees and several of the trustees. The trustees asked for the meeting so that they could explain to Committeemen in some detail the hospital's position in the community, why Trustees feel it is impossible to move the hospital out of Princeton, the importance of a large, regional hospital in attracting top-flight doctors, the importance of an adjacent Medical Arts building whose doctors are close in the event of emergency, and so on. No specific requests were made of Committee.

DAYS RECEIPTS STOLEN
From Davidson's Market. Al Simon, manager of Davidson's Market, 172 Nassau Street, called police Saturday morning to report that $1,000 in receipts had been stolen from the store.

Police said Mr. Simon estimated that $940 in cash and $413 in checks were in the brown manila envelope. Mr. Simon reported he discovered the envelope was missing about 8:30 Friday evening. The incident is still under investigation.

YOUTH IS CHARGED

With Drunken Driving
Bruce S. Bauman, 18, 17 Oxford Circle, Skillman, was charged with drunken driving by P.D. William Hunter last week, after his car went out of control on the intersection of Hodge Road and Lilac Lane. If convicted, young Bauman will lose his license until he is 21.
Police said after Bauman's car went out of control, it traveled 210 feet, hit a tree, went through a fence and some shrubbery, continued through a second fence and then drove up 26 feet of front lawn of the home of Rudolf Clemen, 26 Lilac Lane. The lawn and fence of the property of James G. Scarf, 57 Hodge, was also damaged.
Bauman's car had to be towed away. The incident occurred last Tuesday afternoon during a light snowfall.

A Union teenager was treated at Princeton Hospital for minor injuries last week when the car in which she was riding was hit from behind by another on Nassau Street.
Linda Parskals, 18, was taken to the hospital by the police and treated for a contusion of the skull and a whiplash injury. She was released.
She was a passenger in a car operated by Mayrilyn S. Tumlin, 20, of Lincroft, who had stopped suddenly while looking for a parking place. The mishap occurred 100 feet from University Place.

Wall Damaged, Car Isn't.
A freak accident at Princeton Hospital last week ended in no damage to a 1959 Chrysler and $740 in damage to a brick wall of the hospital.

According to the police, when Sidney Marie, 41, of Perrineville, drove into the emergency parking area to the rear of the hospital, he left his car in "drive" with the motor running. In getting out of the car, his foot accidentally hit the accelerator, causing it to leap forward.
The impact buckled a wall and shattered a window. Repairs, said a hospital spokesman, were estimated at $740.

Five-year-old Christopher Chang, 11 Murray Place, admitted in critical condition to Princeton Hospital last week with a fractured skull, following an accident on Rosedale Road in which his mother's car was involved, was removed from the critical list three days later. His condition is now described as fair.

THEFTS REPORTED
At Church, Choir Cellar.
Five canned hams, other canned meats and $200 from a strong box were taken last week from the office of the Westminster Choir College.
Thomas Dellatore, the manager, said the theft occurred sometime Thursday night. Entry was gained by cutting a screen on the north side of the building and prying open a window, police said.

The secretary of the Methodist Church, Nassau and Vandewater, also called police Friday morning to report the theft of $18 from a cash box and a man's wristwatch.
Police said that someone apparently entered the church the night before through a window facing Vandewater.

There was also a report on Thursday of an attempted breaking and entering of a second floor apartment at 51 Park Place. The occupants, however, told police nothing was missing.

Chief Peter J. McCrehan also listed reports of several Nassau Street apartments being entered Thursday morning between 9 and 1 p.m.
Two dollars in change was taken from a downstairs apartment at 211 Nassau, and apparently nothing from a second-floor apartment which was entered at the same address. Two apartments at 230 Nassau were entered, but again the occupants could not name any items that were missing. "Apparently, they were just looking for cash," said Chief McCrehan.

Also, the rear door of a third-floor apartment at 210 Nassau was forced. Although desk drawers and closets had been ransacked, there was nothing missing. A metal box was found empty but Chief McCrehan said that apparently it had contained no money.

The chief added that there were attempts to force the doors of two Palmer apartment houses. Both were unsuccessful.

HUCKAPS, TIRES STOLEN
Less Is $126. Early last week, Paul Ramsey, 111 Pittsburgh Road, reported to police the theft of four hubcaps from his car which had been parked in front of his home. He valued them at $100.

The same day, Henry Owend, said two snow tires worth $326 had been taken from his second floor hallway. Mr. Owend lives at 14 Quarry Street.

PROGRESS REPORTED

In Hospital Fund Drive. Appearances followed in last week to Princeton Hospital's first Annual Giving Fund appeal.

As a result, the Fund has reached $3,550 of its goal of $7,000. The money will be used to pay off the interest on the loan which the hospital obtained for construction of its new patient care wing.

Officials of the hospital have announced that two driveways have been reversed.

The drive at the northern end of Medical Arts Building, directly opposite Birch Avenue, leading to Witherspoon has been reversed. It is an exit only. The drive leading from Henry Avenue now drives as an entrance only. Drivers are urged to use caution. Reversing the traffic flow was reversed to provide better protection for school children and pedestrians. It had been ordered by the Township in connection with its granting a parking permit to the Hospital this fall.

YOUNGSTERS INVITED

To Annual Scientific Lecture. The annual "Christmas Lecture" sponsored by Princeton University and the Princeton Junior Museum will be given next Wednesday, December 28, at 2:30 in Guyot Hall.

Youngsters of all ages are invited to hear Prof. Arthur B. Pardee of the biology department talk on "The Efficient Chemistry of Life."

Dr. Pardee will use simple experiments and slides to illustrate what he calls "The beautiful organization of the processes of life." He will introduce young scholars to biochemistry, a science so new that almost all its discoveries have been made within the last 25 years.

Admission is free, but tickets are required. They may be reserved by calling E21-8229 at any time the Princeton Telephone Answering Service will accept the calls. Tickets may be picked up at the Museum in Borough Hall next Tuesday and Wednesday.

This is the fourth "Christmas Lecture" in a series patterned after the lectures of the great physicist Michael Faraday delivered to 19th century audiences of curious youngsters. Each year a lecture is given by a senior Princeton University faculty member for the enjoyment and education of junior Princetonians.

In past years, Dr. Allen Sherrington of the physics department has spoken on the work of Joseph Henry, the 19th century scientist; Prof. Robert H. Dicke of the physics department talked on "Gravity in the Exploding Universe."

Prof. Pardee graduated with highest honors from the University of California at Berkeley. During World War II he was associated with the National Defense Research Council and later with the atomic bomb project.

His special qualifications as a "Christmas Lecturer" are as impeccable as his academic credentials. He is the father of four children, Michael, Richard, Thomas and Elizabeth.

FOLLOW THE LEADER

Smithsonian Comes to Town. A representative of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington will visit the Princeton Junior Museum next Thursday and Friday to study it in operation. The Museum will be open all day, 9:30-4:30, next Tuesday through Saturday.

Princeton's museum is almost alone of its kind in offering displays and exhibits which young children can handle and manipulate, and the Smithsonian plans to start neighborhood museums along the same line.

PARK SITE ADOPED

For Community College. A section of Assumpink Park in West Windsor, comprising about 291 acres, has been designated as the site of Mercer County Community College. The decision was made by the college's Board of Trustees at its meeting on Friday, and the city of Trenton announced on Monday that it would appeal the decision to the State Board of Education.

The trustees also decided at the same time to set up a center in Trenton for part-time, adult and extension programs. This center will be established in temporary quarters while the board considers a permanent location, according to the trustees.

Public transportation to Assumpink will be provided for students from downtown Trenton. (Continued on page 12)

The new facilities in West Windsor will not be ready until 1969 or 1970, and the college will use the present Trenton Junior College until that time.

NETTLES AHEAD
For Open Space. "I am shaken by this turn of events — shaken rather deeply," said James C. Seven Wednesday night, after he and his fellow members of the Township Open Space Commission and the Township Planning Board, had been battered and numbed for two hours by property-owners who don't want their land blocked out as "open space" on the Township's Master Plan map.

Mostly it was due to misunderstanding. Thomas Cook, legal counsel for the Commission, explained that placing property on the map has no legal effect on ownership. It only means that, if the owner files a subdivision plan, the Township has a year to decide whether or not to buy the land as open space.

"It's a cheap way of acquiring property without paying for it," stated attorney Seymour Montgomerie, representing Amos Eno.

Mr. Montgomerie meant that no developer would buy a plot of land on the Master Plan map as Open Space because he would not care to wait around a year while the Township made up its mind to buy.

Karl M. Light, real estate broker, seconded Mr. Montgomerie's contention: "Developers won't bid on land that has even been discussed as reserved under Open Space; the damage has already been done to these properties."

The designation of Mr. Eno's

farm on Quaker Road as desirable open space land was an especial sting because Mr. Eno is an outspoken advocate of open space and not only gave the Township 23 acres outright a few years ago, but contributed at length with Mr. Seven before selling some land to a golf course and a sod farm.

Mr. Eno himself protested the lack of communication with property-owners, most of whom said they first knew their lands were to go on the map as hoped-for "open space" when they read it in the paper. Hugh Wise, speaking for J. Dudley Clark, spoke of the map designation as a "sword of Damocles," and asked postponement of the hearing. Township attorney Gordon Griffin asked whether Mr. Wise would hold the Township legally liable for damage, and Mr. Wise said he wasn't prepared to say that, but he felt that designation of the Clark's property on the map made any future owner "a conduit from no client to the Township."

Law on Township Side. Mr. Griffin reminded the property-owners and lawyers in the audience that state laws authorize the Planning Board to formulate a Master Plan, and that the Board was completely within its rights, in putting the properties on a map, bringing the question to public hearing.

It was also pointed out that open space lands must be on a legal Master Plan map before any state or Federal money is forthcoming to buy land.

But most property-owners in Township Hall that night felt that private, individual discussions should have been held with each land-owner first.

The Township hopes event

likely to have 25% of the municipality — 2,500 acres — in open space of one kind or another. At present, there are about 1,700 acres, leaving some 700-800 to go.

A somewhat shaken Planning Board decides that Mr. Cook and members of the Open Space Commission will now confer with all owners involved. The matter will then be discussed at a public meeting of the Planning Board.

NO TRUCKS?

Also on Tuesday — a wind up session before the end of the old year — Council will hear charges of violation of the ABC code against Russo's Cafe on Spring Street.

Borough Council will reorganize formally Monday, January 2, at noon, when the two new Councilmen, Robert J. Hendry and Charles Cornforth will be sworn in by Mayor Henry S. Patterson will give his annual address.

TV THEFT FALSIFIED

At Rob Lang Store, Diddling finesse or sophistication, a man and a woman tried to steal two portable TV sets from the Rob Lang store last week by the simple act of walking out the front door with the sets under their arms.

One set was dropped outside the front door of the store in the Princeton Shopping Center and recovered by an employee. The second, a 9-inch set, valued at $80, was later recovered in the Bamberger parking lot and taken to the Trenton police department.

Township police were alerted by a call from a store employee. Police said the couple escaped in a car, but not until they were able to get a description of it. The incident took place at 7:40 Thursday evening.

ASK CLARIFICATION

Of Parking. Theodore T. Tams, attorney for George Warnecke, owner of the Princeton Shopping Center, appeared Thursday night before the Township Zoning Board asking for clarification of the Board's parking requirements for the proposed new A

& P and the addition to Bamberger's.

The Board told Mr. Tams it didn't plan to change its mind and, in fact, couldn't make any change without putting everybody through another public hearing.

The Board has told the Shopping Center it must provide sufficient parking for the addition to Bamberger's, the present Bamberger's and the new A & P, all on the north side of the present Bamberger building.

Editor of Town Topics:
Mister-Feeding Drive Backed.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Congratulations to the Mayor, Council and Police Department of Princeton, on the action taken against meter-feeding in the center of town—Nassau, Chambers, Witherspoon.

On the first Saturday after the notice appeared, parking on Nassau Street was 50 percent improved although it was a major shopping day—Christmas day. We certainly hope the enforcement of the meter-feeding ordinance will continue. It is bad enough to have the employees of the shops and stores in the center of town feed the meters, but when you see the shop owners themselves violating this ordinance, it seems they have little regard for more customers. I am sure there is an increasing number of people who avoid Nassau Street and go to the Shopping Center because they cannot find a parking place. In the interest of keeping the parking meters in the center of town available for short shopping errands, we hope you will continue to enforce this ordinance.

May Disney's Spirit Live:
To the Editor of Town Topics:

News of Walt Disney's death will surely be heard with sadness by all who love his work. His creative imagination has given us many beautiful moments. It has no doubt been a salutary example to those artists who strive to reveal aspects of life which are manifestations of human dignity and charity. In spite of the occasional film from his studios which could rightly be indicted as saccharine or "corny," his productions were usually fine entertainment. They were sometimes inspired and inspiring art.

Nowadays, many producers are trying to shock people away from television and into movie houses by offering them blood-spattered "garbage" which they serve up disguised either as solemn "art" or cynical "spoof." May the spirit of Walt Disney be a reproach to all such hucksters, and an inspiration to all artists who strive to lift rather than deprave men's hearts.

WILLIAM BROWER
682 Ewing Street

Editors Note: Children at the Community Park School felt so strongly about Walt Disney's death that they asked the principal to lower the flag to half mast in his memory, and their request was granted.

Back the Ice Safety Rules:
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Thanks are due the University and Township for developing such a fine ice safety program. The delimiting of "Safe Ice Areas" and the improvement of the warning system are important innovations; the question remains whether users of the lake will respect them.

In the absence of legal sanctions, it is important that each adult realize that anyone who skates at an unsafe time or place is morally responsible not only for his own safety, but for that of any children who may observe the bad example. To violate the reasonable regulations issued by the Township is to mock at all the efforts of community, school and home to enhance the safety of children and adults. I hope that no adult this winter will take that risk.

BACK IN SERVICE

The "Princeton" Heads for Vietnam. After 21 years in the "mothball fleet," the U.S.S. "Princeton Victory" has been taken out of retirement to meet increased naval requirements in Southeast Asia. The 11,000 ton cargo carrier is the sixth American vessel to bear the name "Princeton."

Robert F. Gohsen, president of Princeton University, received notice of the ship's return to action in a communication from the Maritime Administration which reported: "The ship bearing your school's name has had a long and distinguished record since its construction. It is now answering its country's call again."

The "Princeton Victory" is the second "Princeton" ship to serve in Southeast Asia this year. The U.S.S. "Princeton" has just returned after six and half months off Vietnam as flagship of the Seventh Fleet amphibious ready group.

Of the other four ships in the "Nassau Navy," perhaps the most famous was the first propeller-driven man-of-war, launched in 1843. It was aboard this vessel that a 10-ton cannon exploded, killing two members of President Tyler's cabinet, the President's father-in-law, and three others. A later "Princeton" was a light carrier launched in 1943. It logged over 150,000 miles and engaged in more actions than any other carrier before it was sunk by explosions of its own guns and torpedoes when a Japanese dive bomber crashed into it.

Around the World with a Can Opener

The world comes to your door at Christmas-time, with the foods, customs and songs of many lands all a part of the gaiety. Here are some traditional foods to make you glad the world is wider:

Canada: Shortbread, at Louise Mass, is part of a gift parcel, but available separately, too.

Denmark: Village Bakery in Lawrenceville has Danish pastries in the shape of Christmas trees, liberally trimmed with dried fruits, raisins and nuts. Each one is a full pound. Danish waffles or coffee cakes can fill in when the tree has been gobbled up.

Germany: Spitzkuchen, the German spice cookies, are a tradition by now at the Gourmet, where they appear every year. They come in people shapes and animal shapes. Hishguckel Patience cookies can be strung up on the tree. One side is chocolate, one is sugar frosting.

France: Laughing cow cheese (La Vache Qui Rit) is spread wide at Food Mart. Eaten in packages for easy milking.

Holland: That old favorite chocolate apple appears every year from Drosche. Viok's.

Switzerland: Flower lilytops at the Del are sunny little discs of color, with hard candy flowers inside a rim of yellow.

Czechoslovakia: Well, why not? Davidson's has chicken-liver pate, Chinese style, with water chestnuts. For New Year's Eve feasting.

It's New To Us

envelope for 25c.

Mariposa usually means a resigned pig in a cage. We met the old boy again this year at the Del, Gourmet and Mass. At Mass and Gourmet he is accompanied by a taste of Swiss potatoes. The traditional almond paste is available at Mass by the pound — $2, as well as in familiar forms and baskets. Fruit marzipan at Viok's is $10 in little fruit baskets.

The Del's German marzipan has been molded into little figures or fruits and is frequently chocolate covered, which is certainly gliding the lily.

In the Del's candy department, Lindt and Tobler come again with each other in Swiss scenery and fine chocolate. Splendid color photographs of violently snow-covered peaks or wildflowers or pastoral scenes will lead you to one company or the other — they are certainly equal in quality. These two firms are paired so often on display shelves that some customers think of them together: "Lindt and Tobler," like "Lax and Tupper." But don't say that in front of a Tobler!

A charming little oval box in Del's blue holds the Del's individual chocolates from Holland. But the really special candies at the Del this year are the Maroons Supreme. It's a group and covered with chocolate. WOW! Only one spice, to be eaten with fine attention to detail.

Stephen Whitman is the dark-haired boy at Marsha's. This section of the famous family makes "hand-fashioned chocolates" in a tremendous range of size. Nips and chews, for instance, chocolate nuts, bouquet of all-kind-of-chocolates, or mild-mannered milk. Stephen Whitman is $1.70 a pound for most of the boxes. Core for an almond butter candy?

Marsha's Little peppermint comes with a star pattern of pick on white are warm-hearted Christmas candies. And the sourballs are nostalgic reminders of your childhood Christmas stockings.

At Thorne's, Russell Stover is still king of the stove, with pastels, fruit-flavored jellies and "Salt and Cheese" in a can, besides the usual assortment of dark and light chocolates. Lindt "Tins" of milk and buttercream, are at Thorne's this year.

Gourmet has Bissinger's filled black chocolates, made in Cincinnati from an old French recipe, of all things.

French mints by Fanny Farmer, some with green tops, most with chocolate all around, are at Viok's at $1.50 a box. Mrs. Farmer (Miss?) has spent all year twinning that thin ribbon candy.

Fruit place is $2.10 or $3.10 a box, and Viok's favorite Almond Rose is $2.25 for a round. —Continued on Page 21

"THERE WERE SHEPHERDS OUT IN THE FIELD, keeping watch over their flock by night..." A scene from the Nativity pageant to be given on Christmas Eve at First Presbyterian Church at 5 and 10 p.m. Shepherds (from left) are William Alton, Winston White and William Walsted.

It's New To Us

tin. Poppycock, as you know, is a happy jumble of nuts
and popcorn. Viedt's had it, so does the Del, so does Louise Mama.

Wallace's very thin chocolate water mimis are Viedt's meal. In the bulk bins, are mint wreaths in white with green bows. Assorted Dutch chocolates go along with the apple at Viedt's, and clear burley-sugar lollipops go into everyone's stocking.

FILL A STOCKING

With Sweet. Speaking of stockings, there are all kinds of things to use for sweet fillers. Viedt's has maple-sugar candies, some shaped like great big (three inch) Indian head pennies, and foil wrapped chocolate molded into horns or bottles. There's a bag of foil wrapped balls, too.

Louise Mame always has innumerable place settings for holiday entertaining. Here's a felt boot, snowmen made from yarn, a mouse extending a New Year's greeting... and six-inch Santas to bear candies in their pockets.

Foil, foil — again we find foil-wrapped figures, this time at Thorner's, where there's a great big Santa, a BIG egg for little smokers, and a tree base with tree growing from the top.

Mama's snowman clutches
a box of Stepha Whimsies miniatures (he's a small snowman). One of the 4th Santa's is candy-hungry, too.

YOU'RE INVITED

Guest List. For holiday entertaining, don't forget the last convenience.
Jill on Route 206, at 259
Nassau or on Franklin Road in Lawrenceville, has a quart of nutmeg when you've poured the last drop, is a mighty convenient thing to have just around the corner. Eggs not here is 59¢ a quart.

Chip n' Dip in Jack 'n Jill's answer to a holiday-ridden hostess. It comes in French onion, cheddar, bacon and horseradish, and the potato chips or crackers are just around the store. Hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

For holiday cooking, you'll want to know that Food Market has one, two and three-pound bags of dried and peeled cheese—very hard indeed to find.

And what are you stuffing?
Lyons Market has Cornish hens already stuffed with wild rice, pheasant, squash, goose, duckling—the market is like a busy bazaar. In the frozen bin, there is half an idlewild hen, or the stuffed breast (with first wing joint) of a Cornish hen.

Smoked turkey and Virginia Smithfield ham, already cooked—how's that for New Year's Eve or The Day itself?

And if you're fed up with fowl, how about a rib roast for Christmas Day or a crown roast of lamb or pork? For those unsure of themselves,
with goose or crown roast,
Lyons will provide useful advice on roasting times and what to do with all that goose fat.

The Del serves, piping hot,
Jugtown Mountain's Breakfast
Meat or Irish bacon, sausage smoked and a pleasant change from bacon-egg-bean. Shau soup or prawn soup from Ir-land are other exotics at the Del.

It's Midnight. On New Year's Eve, you can serve Bavarian leberwurst with pork chunks, Weiphalan blood sausage and or pig knuckles in aspic.

In the cheese department,
The Del runs the whole international course: Fontina from Italy, Boursait from France,
Danish Tybo and the Danish
Christiane X with its curraway seeds. Locally, there's the dark almost brown Longhorn from Jugtown Mountain and a good
New York cheddar.

Lyons thinks your New Year's Eve feasting should begin with Strasbourg-style pate.
And end with it, too.

But holiday desserts have a way of their own. Viedt's and Louise Mame have snowballs of icecream with a bit of berry and a candle on each one in package of four. In addition,

Slide Me a Pickled Eel

Delicacies of the season are not always confined to fruit-cake and nog. If you want to bring a little bounce to holiday entertaining or giving, try some of these deli- cacies. (And just think what eel would do in a Christmas stocking!)

Fresh caviar. Well how delicate can you get? Both the Nassau Del and the Gourmet have fresh, fresh, refrigerated black caviar. Beluga itself. You may have to sell some blue-chip stocks to buy a couple of ounces, but how many times do you live, anyway?

Honey-made bread. When it's good, it's almost as rare as Beluga caviar. Village Bakery in Lawrenceville has breakfast breads in holiday loaves, filled with pecan, raisins, and fruits, and sprinkled with a snowfall of sugar. How about Christmas breakfast with hot, black coffee?

Cookies. Hungarian fruit pockets — little folds of pastry plump with goodness — are new this year at Louise Max's candy shop.

Honey cake. Dijon honey cake from France is a pleasant turn of events in the fruit-cake line. At Davidson's.

Eggnog. Minicremat. Patisserie Lahlere concocts this wheel of richness for most festive holiday meal.

Squab. Lyons Markets serves up a traditional delicacy.

Noir about those Eels... They do indeed exist, at the Food Mart, to be exact. They are pickled, in jelly, and you can take it from there.

Martini liqueur in a red velvet bottle — all smoothness. A gallon — gallon! of Del- amain. Cognac comes in a wood- en rack for ease in dispensing. The rack says "Tres Belle" and if you want to be elegant, it may well be for $62.50.

Favorite wines at Claridge are the '61 Chateau Haut Brion, red Bordeaux, $11.24; the '59 Chateau Lafite Rothschild, red Bordeaux, $22.50; Chateau Latour, '61 red Burgundy, $12.25; and the Widmann Pouilly-Fuissé, '64 white, $3.38.

Cousin's Frutes des Bois, the wild strawberry liqueur, is a nice pink, in contrast to the white raspberry. If you want real vodka, try the Polish Bio- Brand "Zabzorka," and if you want to go even farther east, try the Kikkoman Plum Wine from Japan. Buena Vista is a Green Hungarian wine.

Wine and Game packs your gift choice in wicker baskets, wine baskets, atische cases and picnic baskets. Pick your bottle. How about Ouzo, the renowned Greek drink from Mexico? The Hungarian wine here is white: Tokaji Aszu. The Dutch brew is Vandeputer Liqueur, a minted chocolate in a pretty little porcelain bottle.

The bottle we like is Wine and Game's George Dickel Ten- nessee whiskey in a goose-neck bottle with leather straps. You pay $16.95. Madeline Rain- water is a dry (i) white wine for $2.75. Demara's rum comes from the English firm that supplies the Admiralty, and you know how an old salt can soak up rum. On the other

From Varsity, we brought home the spray can dispenser full of Barton's Vermouth — 99c, and wonderful for a bartender's stocking.

Coro's Portuguese sweet wine in golden or ruby in a straw covered, Nice little slumpy bottle, for $1.50. The Const. and Chianti comes in a grey pottery pitcher with fruit on the side.

Champagne! The toast to the New Year might be drunk in Hans Kornell's Napa Valley champagne, pink rose or red sparkling Burgundy from Cougins, or in Tintoret champagne, brut from Claridge.

Wine and Game lifts its glass of Prince Hubert de Polignac champagne and Varsity raises the glass poured from Piper Heidsieck's three-quarter-ounce bottle at $31.20. Cellar has been saving, for 1967, its '59 Bollinger champagne and with that sip of fine wine, we bring these columns to a close and wish you all, as always, a new year of peace and happiness.

If you think this artistry has passed from the current scene, come visit us and see the fine work we turn out. In our new all-electric showroom, a converted farm building, you can browse among samples of the twenty-five or more different pieces we make. PRO AND CON ON STUDENT CENTER SITE: These teenagers, all 13, discuss the pros and cons of the proposed site of the former Miss Fine's School gym as a teen center. From left are, Pam Norman, Jenny Fischer, Peter Erlingen and Karen Kleiber. Doug Rand is in back. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of the proposal to renovate the former Miss Fine's School gym and use it as a teen center?

Where Asked: Nassau Street

Pam Norman, 41 Pine Street, 8th grader, John Witherspoon School: I think it's better than having it in a church. It's all right to have it in a church but I think a center should be in one permanent place where everybody can go at once.

Jenny Fischer, 401 Nassau Street, 8th grader, John Witherspoon School: It's too far. I'd like to see it closer to the center of town.

Doug Rand, 42 Mercer Street, 8th grader, John Witherspoon School: I think it's great! It's better than the high school. I'd rather see this than Community Park. I think it's a good idea.

Peter Erlingen, 129 Broadmead, 13th grader, John Witherspoon School: I think it's a good idea as long as they have night dances with live bands like the Deuces Wild. As for location, I think it should be more towards the center of town.

Karen Kleiber, 8 Robert Road, 8th grader, John Witherspoon School: I think it's okay but I'd like it better if it were in town—somewhere near Palmer Square.

Peter Starbuck, MacClean Circle, PHS senior: I'd be in favor because, first of all, you'd only have to renovate you wouldn't have to build a whole new building. It's closer to town and it's right next to Borough Hall. Be easy to keep order.

Susan Beers, 263 Walnut Lane, PHS sophomore: I think it's a good idea because it's closer to town than Community Park and we wouldn't have any interference from the churches.

Brandon Stechlin, Hickory Court, PHS senior: I feel it's a good idea. It will save a lot of money. Why not? I personally happen to like that end of town. I come up here every day so it's not out of the way.

Wayne Dorman, Belle Mead, PHS sophomore: I think it's a good idea. It will keep the kids out of trouble and it shouldn't be too hard to get up there—even in winter.

Bob Korman, Riverside Drive, PHS sophomore: I think it's a very good idea, especially to have a student center at that location. I think it's the closest place available. I think it's a good choice.

Mike Hinton, Princeton Junction, PHS junior: I think it's a good idea. It's a good place, it's off the street, and it's not too far. Kids sometimes walk a mile or so just to be with their friends, so it's not too far.

Betsy Foglesong, Phillip Drive, PHS sophomore: I don't think it will be big enough.

 Mrs. Gersleigh, Studio-on-the-Canal, Alexander Street, is one of two artists—the other is Ben Shahn, of Roosevelt—named by Governor Richard Hughes to the newly formed New Jersey Arts Council. The appointment has been confirmed by the state Senate.

Mr. Gersleigh was director of Princeton Group Arts from the time of its founding until it was dissolved in 1953. He is known throughout the state as a painter, teacher and administrator of community arts programs.

Last June, he retired after six years with the occupational therapy department of the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute at Skillman. During his years at Skillman, Mr. Gersleigh worked chiefly with emotionally disturbed children, but also with the mentally ill. In addition, he did posters and Since his retirement, he has devoted full time to a teaching schedule at his Studio-on-the-Canal, which he founded in 1953, and to his own painting.

Named with Mr. Gersleigh to the Arts Council by Governor Hughes, are Mr. Shahn; St. John Terrell, of the Lambertville Music Circus; Dore Schary, movie producer; Edward A. ## RARE COINS ON VIEW

AT UNIVERSITY MUSEUM, Ten ancient Greek coins from one of the greatest caches of money ever found in the ancient world are currently on display at the Princeton University Art Museum. The coins were discovered last summer by Princeton archaeologists in the ruins of Morgantina in the central hill country of Sicily. Paul W. Deussen, a graduate student, found the cache while digging in the dirt floor of what had been the home of a wealthy Greek. The coins

Robert M. Kallshmidt of 5 Euclid Avenue, Kingston, has been selected to remain at Lackland AFB, Tex., for training as an Air Force pilot. The son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kallshmidt, he is a 1964 graduate of Middlebury College. Vocational and Technical High School and has recently completed his basic training at Lackland.

He is estimated to be 22,200 years old.

Princeton archaeological missions have been visiting Morgantina each year since it was discovered in 1953 by Prof. Erik Sjovist of the department of art and archaeology. Prof. Sjovist describes his find as being of "immense historical and artistic value." He thinks it was the "bank account" of an ancient capitalist.

The coins will be displayed through December. The University Museum is open from 10 to 4 Tuesday through Saturday and from 2 to 4 on Sunday. It will be closed from December 23 through 26 and on January 1 and 2.

SPORTS In Princeton

BUST THE GAME OPEN
Tigers. Hard to contain.
Ahead of Davidson last week by no more than three points with ten minutes left in the second half, Princeton's basketball team dominated the action at Charlotte so completely that in the next eight minutes, it outscored the losers, 25 to 4.
Two days later in Dillon Gym, an aggressive Navy quietest gave the Tigers all sorts of trouble in the first half, a quiet game by big Chris Thomforde barely giving the home team a 35-31 advantage. When play resumed, the Orange and Black took charge: over an eight minute stretch immediately after the intermission, it hoisted 24 points on the board to 4 for the losers, who went almost the entire length of that time before they got their first field goal.

It is this sort of ability to play a share of twilight basketball when the outcome hangs in the balance that gives Princeton hope of finishing among the top four teams to next week's eight-entry Quaker City Tournament at the Palastra. The field is so strong that four teams in the event
— Louisville, Michigan State,
Princeton and Syracuse are currently unbeaten after three weeks of play. Two others,
North Carolina Central and La-Salle, suffered their initial losses to Niagara, while the eighth entrant, Villanova, was beaten first by Princeton.

Czech Bill Van Breda Kolff's
quietest will play its opener
Tuesday afternoon at 2 against Bowling Green. If it is beaten, it will be in action Wednesday, but if it wins—which is more likely—it will face the winner of the Villanova-Michigan State game on Thursday.

Davidson Erases Margin. In the game at Charlotte, Princeton actually needed two major scoring drives to win, because it lost all the advantage it had built up in the first one. From a narrow lead in the very early going, the Tigers raced to a 37-20 advantage before the home team began to recover its poise.

The Wildcats pared their deficit to nine (43-30) at the half, and with seven minutes gone in the final period, had except to within two—53-51. If Princeton was to shake up the basketball world a bit in the pre-Christmas firing, now was the moment—against a team that had lost only to Michigan at Ann Arbor by four points, and one whose coach had led his quintets to 20 victories or better in the last four years.

It was right there that the Tigers made their move, in the face of a full-court press, with majority of the crowd of 7,000 rooted against them and with two of their starters —
Chris Thomforde and Gary
Walters—in deep foul trouble.
Thomforde picked up three

UNCONTESTED SHOT: Captain Ed Hummer's agility gives him a field goal which Navy had no chance to block in the early going Saturday at Dillon Gym. foals in the first nine minutes.
Hobby Brown, who replaced him, set some sort of record for the short course by fouling out completely in the next six.

Bill Koch came in for Brown, and for a good part of the last 24 minutes of action,
the Tigers went without either of their big men. Walters lasted until there were only five minutes left in the second half,
so that once again, the fabulous Princeton bench played a major share in the victory.

Dave Lawyer, Larry Lucchino and Al Adler joined Koch in blending beautifully with the two Tiger regulars who were not in foul trouble.
This pair, Captain Ed Hummer and John Harlow, gave great performances.

Harlow, spearheading the first scoring drive, had 11 points in the first 16 minutes and ended with 18. Hummer, hitting on 9 of 11 from the foul line, contributed the bulk of his game-leading 21 in the ballooning second half.

Despite his forced inactivity, Thomforde contributed 16 to the evening's outing as the Tigers hit at a great 50%— 15% better than the losers on their own court. It was a 91-6 final over the Southern Conference defending champions.

Sports in Princeton

the basketball teams in the East. If he keeps on playing the way he has this season, he may earn a regular job on the talent-rich Princetonians.

He got his first starting assignment against Navy Saturday because Heller aggravated his ankle injury at Davidson. Until that contest, Heller had been averaging better than 15 points a game, and that is not a small gap for a reserve player to plug.

By the time he was recharged with three minutes left and Princeton well out in front, Lawyer had earned top dogging honors with 18 points. Fully as important, he had been assigned at the start of the second half to guard Hank Schmidt, former Princeton high athlete, whose 13 points in the first half were largely responsible for Navy's ability to come within one second of leaving the court with the lead.

With Lawyer sticking to him like a shadow, Schmidt did not produce another field goal, adding just two free throws to his total. Ten of Lawyer's points came during the Princeton scoring drive that launched the decisive second half.

Let-Down Is Obvious. The high pitch that the Tigers had reached for their trip to Charlotte took its toll during the first half against Navy, which led during most of the first 20 minutes. Schmidt hit on four of his first five jumpers, Thorneford was off target and the feeds to him on the post were generally going awry.

The intermission produced the needed change. "We didn't do anything different," Van Lierde, Kaffi observed, "We just began doing it right." Navy turned completely cold. Princeton couldn't get a field goal until 7:28 of the half had gone and by that time Princeton was out of sight. By game's end, it was 83 to 57.

In addition to Lawyer, Hammer was in double figures with 18, while Thorneford and Walters both had 12. No better than 34 1/2 from the floor for the first half, the Tigers hit on 19 of 37 in the last 20 minutes to top 50 1/2 and end with 45 1/2 for the afternoon.

ONE BIG REASON why Princeton's basketball team is undefeated after six games is the all-around play of 6-9 Chris Thorneford. In double figures for each of the last five games, he also often excels on defense with blocked shots which he promptly recovers.

Once again, Hammer turned in a fine defensive performance. In the Tigers' man-to-man scheme of things, he was assigned to guard the Navy's Joe Toime. The latter went into the contest with a 22-point-per-game average and came out with a 2-for-12 performance and seven points.

SKATERS FINISH LAST in Holiday Festival. An attack that produced six goals in such game against Boston University and Yale wasn't enough to match a defense that allowed the opposition a total of 20 goals, and Princeton's beleaguered hockey team lost a pair last weekend in Madison Square Garden.

Boston University, rated the second best team to Cornell in the East, walloped the Tigers Saturday, 13 to 6. In the Sabbath consolation contest Yale outlasted the Orange and Black in overtime, 7 to 6.

Leading 8-0 before Princeton turned on the light, B. U. tied or broke every one-game scoring record for the tournament. They took three paragraphs to list in full in The New York Times, but copies of TOWN TOPICS are not microfilmed for posterity and they are accordingly omitted in the Christian spirit of the current season.

John Ritchie, first line center, managed the hot trick for the Tigers' sophomore defenseman Bill Ramsey scored twice and Charlie MacMillan, a wing, produced the losers' other goal. A total of nine shots by both teams found the mark in a wild third period.

Rally Ties the Score. Yale, with almost as many defensive problems as Princeton, lost a 6-3 overtime decision Saturday to St. Lawrence but next day gained some measure of revenge by topping the Tigers in a contest that also went into an extra session. The winning marker came at 1:58 of the sudden-death period.

If nothing else, the Princeton sextet has the ability to play a full 60 minutes of hockey and again the third period was its best. The Tigers overcame a three-goal lead that Yale had built up, but even though they scored five times in the final 20 minutes, they were no better than even at the end of regulation time.

Captain Gordy Glidman and defenseman John Baker each scored twice in the vain drive to break out of the defensive hole; streak. The Tigers will have another shot at Yale on New Year's Eve, playing at the South Mountain Arena in West Orange.

In all four games with the Elis are on the schedule, two of the Ivy League affairs. If the Tigers are to win anything at the Ivy level this winter, their chances appear to be best against Yale and Dartmouth.

Sports in Princeton

 plicated the test of the 1961 Andover team. Andover is the only American school in the 19-year history of the tournament to win the title without allowing an opponent a goal.

The Blue and White ousted the defending champion, top-seeded Nichols School of Buffalo, 4-0. In its opening game, played Friday morning, that night, Andover conquered Choate, 7-0, in a rough contest marked by a major penalty, a misconduct and a penalty shot all within the space of the 12-minute second period.

Andover was in charge throughout the championship contest with the lone Canadian entry, Trinity College School, winning with a fine display of good skating and hard checking. Fred Fraker of Princeton scored one of the victors' goals; Hugh and Peter Sampson were others from this town maintaining the long tradition of PCH and PDS alumni playing for Andover.

Choate, upset victor over third-seeded Belmont Hill in the opening round, conquered St. Paul's to take third place, matching the highest finish he has achieved in many years of competition here. Dave Battle, John Andersen and Jim Slover of Princeton play for the Connecticut school.

In other games Taft blanked Belmont Hill to win the consolation round, while Nichols handed Lawrenceville its third straight defeat (and last place) with a 4-0 setback. Charles R. Erdman, Jr., one of the originators of the tournament in 1949, is committee chairman, with Harrison S. Frinker serving as treasurer.

PHS AT CATHEDRAL

After loss to Trenton, it will be out of the frying pan and into the fire for the Princeton High School basketball team.

After being gunned down by a surging Trenton High team last week, the Little Tigers will take on an even stronger Cathedral team on Friday evening at 8. And to make the odds more frightening, the contest will be played on the

Goats' home court.

On Monday, the Little Tigers will participate in the first Suburban Trenton Tournament, to be played among PHS, Ewing, Notre Dame and Hopewell Valley Central (Pennington) High School. PHS will meet Ewing in the first game at 7; Notre Dame and Pennington will tangle in the second part of the double-header.

On Wednesday the winners and runners-up will clash in another double match. All games will be played at the Trenton State College gym. Originally, the tournament was set for Ewing but re-polit to Ewing's gymnasium's floor forced the change.

When Rich Vols and Marty Hines tossed in successive baskets to start the second quarter, Trenton's 20-14 lead on Friday was whittled to the difference of one basket, 20-15. Was it possible...?

No, it was not. The early Hurricanes dashed any early hopes when they pirated a series of turnovers for a spree and a 30-19 margin. Coach Fred Price's squad then kept the pressure on to win going away, 81-54. It was Trenton's third in a row after dropping its first two starts.

"Our boys tried" said PHS coach Tony Borzok after the game, "but I could see the handwriting on the wall early." The defeat dropped his team to 2-3.

Journeysman Team. The book isn't closed on the Blue and White yet but early chapters indicated this is going to be at least a journeyman team. It will be a good test for second-year clubs such as Franklin and Lawrence but it appears it isn't going to be able to hold its own among county leaders, such as Cathedral and Notre Dame.

To come up with something effective, Borzok has been experimenting constantly with his personnel—and paying the price. Only 6-5 center Tony Wood, team captain, and Rich Vols are fixtures.

Elsewhere Tony has been juggling Jeff Bullock, Marty Hines, Joe Kallay, Tom Yoder

and Alan Moring. Kallay, with 10 points total output in his last two games, four against Trenton—demonstrated that he is a capable ball handler and quick—but he is only 5-10.

That was the situation against Trenton—a lot of dribbling and passing but no penetration of the Trenton defense with the result that THTS, more often than not, would eventually tip or intercept one of the barrage of passes for a turnover.

Help may come in the person of Doug Van Doren, a 6-3, 180-pounder, who just enrolled in the school three weeks ago. He is a senior.

Tom Wood and Vols ended with 16 points each to tie for scoring honors. Half of Vols' points came in the first half which ended 35-23, with THTS in front. Six of Wood's came in the final period when Price had flooded the court with reserves.

After five games, Wood leads all PHS players with 62 points, followed by Vols, 56; Hines, 55; Bullock, 40, and Yoder, 24. As a team, the Little Tigers have scored 200 for a 31-point average which goes a long way in underlining one of their main problems. How the Blue and White would benefit from the addition of a pair of accurate shooters.

PHS MATMEN BLANKED
 By Nora Hunterdon, North Hunterdon High School, where wrestling is king, opened its season Friday in grand style by sweeping every match from visiting Princeton High School squad.

PHS couldn't even claim losing a "squeaker" against the strong Lions, who have two state champions on their team. "They're going to be good," said coach Tom Murrary.

The Little Tigers will be idle in league competition until January 3 when they will be at Ewing. However, they will participate in a 12-team Holiday tournament at Morrisville High School to be held Tuesday.

Meusel Race Record

Bob Meusel of Plainsboro, a member of the YMCA Varsity Football team, broke the state Junior Men's swimming record and set a new record for the 100-yard freestyle in AAU competition at Nassau with 12.

A freshman at Princeton High School, Bob was timed at 22 seconds, 12 seconds below the existing mark, and stood for two years. He won the event over his closest competitor, who also broke the record, by a factor of a second.

The Blue Angel's league, high single game for the season, Randy Cox and Jim Silvester had 172 each.

In the standings in the four-team league, Tony and Leo Le' are tied for first with 12 points apiece. King Pins and Experts are bracketed with six each.

Citelli Electric regained first place in the Nassau League and won leads 56-55 over Grover Lumber, the former leader, Princeton Aviation and First Aid, tied with Citelli last week for second, now have 52 and 50 wins respectively.

Bob Citelli fashioned the highest single game, a 226. Ed Dayton had 221 and Charles Perpetua and Gre-lind each 219. Mike Pinelli rolled 203-176-210-389 and Al Ren, 172-209-214-395.

Wally Brown (237) and Bill Davall (234) led the scoring in the Tri - County Firemen's League. From there, scores dropped 20 some points to a 2-1 by George Luck and a 210 by Frank Middleton. Ed Hughes had a 191-214.

The tie for first place between Lawrenceville and Princeton No. 1 was resolved, at least for one week, with Lawrenceville grabbing a 52-50 lead. Kingston has 48 while Mercer No. 3 and Princeton Junction are even with 46.

A final 230 rolled Dick Wyckoff above the 600 level with 26 points to spare in the Three-Mile Classic division. Dick's first two games were 216 and 180. Bill Penelli joined him in the heady 600-plus atmosphere with a 224-213-210. Ed Duncan Sr. had 214-202.

High single games were Frank Delbeso's 228, Fred Proccesini's 221, Bill Dumble's 216 and a pair of 213's by Norm Brown and Vince Tufano.

Princeton Tan was the big gainer in the B League, moving from a third-place tie to a 54-52 lead over second-place Balesitri. Ivy Inn, which had shared third place with Princeton Inn moved into a second-place tie with Balesitri.

while Princeton Del, tied for first last week with Balesitri, fell to third place and 50 points. Leo's Gold also has 50, in the ever-changing standings.

High series were Don Snyder's 210-213-181 - 611 and Andy Quere's 224-218-164 - 601. Jim Kahny had 208-234. High single games: Claude Penelli, 217; Joe Tufano, 216; and Bill Balle, 215.

Barbara Goldberg earned scoring honors in the Business Women's League with a 223-199 (167 effort). Gloria Griffith had 192-164 (197). Two frequent leaders, Sarah Linn and Helen Tamala, had 187 and 163-176. Diane Fowler had 1, while Peggy Hanlon, Maggie Schmidt, Lillian Burrough, Irene Ruessano, Jane Rauch and Mary Bartholme scored in the 160-180 range.

There were three split conversions: Lillian Brophy, 5-10; Pat Rinaldi, 3-7-10; Mickey Clukote, 2-5-10 and Jane Rauch, 4-6-10.

Irene's Day Nursery continues its runaway lead in the standings. Jefferson Plumbing and Young Axes trail by 14 and 15 points.

HOSPITAL WINS FIRST in Basketball League. Showing substantial improvement over its first outing, Hospital Trounced American Cyanamid, 68-46, last week for its first victory in the YMCA Recreation League.

Roger Madden and Ed Rickard hit for 28 and 18 points respectively. Hospital, Bob Davis' 7 was high for the losers.

Gallup Poll (2-4) remained the only unbeaten team when it defeated ETS, 45-33. Rick Schreier and John Scitliffe combined for 25 points, while Gary Rankin led ETS shooters with 12.

Andy Kobzar's 15 points put KMA in a 34-28 decision over winless Van Nostrand. Joe Price accounted for almost a third of the loser's points in the low-scoring contest with 8.

BASKETBALL AT PHS

During the Holiday Season. Again this year the Board of Education will join with the YMCA in sponsoring informal basketball for Princeton area high school boys during the holiday vacation.

The program will be held December 27-30 at the Princeton High School gym under the direction of Larry Ivan. Playing time for each game will be 1 to 3 p.m. No registration is necessary but gym shoes are required.

FIREARM WARN

"Fireproof" trees? Robert H. Schafer, chief of the Princeton Fire Department, has issued a warning to residents: "Fireproof your Christmas trees and check all electrical holiday decoration lights and equipment before using them." Chief Schafer asks householders not to overload house electrical circuits by changing fuses from the required 15 amperes to higher amperes. "Such practice is hazardous to the electrical system and cause a serious fire."

"THIS IS THE SEASON"
 The Children Write, Youngsters in the Princeton schools have found this a long, respectful letter to the unknown delights of Christmas Day. Most of the younger ones practiced their writing on a theme close to their hearts, as this random sample from the John Witherspoon School shows:

"This is the season To have a reason Not to be mad And not to be sad But to be gay And say 'I'll play And best of all Santa's on his way.' —Steve Mape

"If I were a pine tree, I would write from Vienna, the best thing that could happen to me would be on Christmas for a boy or girl to decorate me, or if I were any other tree, it would be nice not to be chopped down!"

And from Deborah Kyser: "Christmas to me is happiness and joy. It is the time Christmas was born. This day is a peaceful day. Love comes with Christmas. Jesus is a symbol of love. So is Santa Claus! He brings us gifts because Jesus was a gift to us. St. Nicholas was a Spanish bishop. He started the custom of filling stockings."

"The season is so Treason You might just get To mezzin' But St. Nick will be Coming down The chimneys of the Home in town." —Chip Rand

And from Deanna Danielson: "Santa's on his way To bring us all the goods Within the sleigh. The reindeer's feet Are prancing And if you listen hard, They're dinging!"

$26 MILLION IS COST
 Of Proposed "Shopping City." Plans for a $26 million "Shopping City" to be located on 400 acres in Hopewell Township east of Route 69 at the intersection of Trus Mill Road have been presented informally to the Township Committee.

In addition to a shopping center, there would be a medical center, a combination motel-restaurant near the center, and a town house apartment complex behind the center. The shopping center itself would have a central railroad with air-conditioned hills leading to major department stores, food, food, appliance stores, some 60 specialty shops and a commuter railway station (the Reading Railway runs adjacent to the proposed tract).

There would be commercial offices in the two-story buildings. Planned for the outskirts of the center are a motion picture theater, drive-in banks and auto accessories stores. Colonial Village Manor Corporation is behind the planning. A spokesman for the firm, Mrs. Eleanor S. Suydam, told Hopewell Township Committee that her firm has contracted to buy 600 acres at the site, 150 of which would be used for the actual shopping center. She added that the New York financier has promised financial backing.

Since the site is currently zoned commercial, the developer, ostensibly, need only apply for a building permit to begin construction. However, a new Township master plan is being prepared which will rezone the area industrial. This is expected to be adopted sometime this spring.

Mayor Thomas A. Pierson said if the developer waits until then, he would have to obtain a variance before applying for a building permit. The question of a apartment construction would be separate, since they are not a permitted use in the Township.

Own Planning Facilities. As for planning facilities, a crucial question for the Township which is facing problems generated by an increasing population and the lack of any sev-erage system—the engineer the developer reported that an sewerage supply could be obtained from underground wells. A permanent sewerage connection system for the center would be designed, he added, to allow for future connection with any municipality.

Mrs. Suydam told Committee that she is currently negotiating with firms who wish to join the center. She pointed out that one of the main reasons the site was selected was for its proximity to the proposed Interstate 95 Route whose final alignment has yet to be determined. However, her advisors have assured her she said, that this is the right location.

PIS WINS, 67-43

Wood Moses Game. Believe in cycles? The Princeton High School basketball team has lost all its odd-numbered games and won all even-numbered ones.

Tuesday's contest with visiting Lawrence was No. 6 so it was not unexpected that PHS won, 67-54, to even its record at 3-3. The loss was the fledgling Cardinals fifth in six games.

The Little Tigers were forced to go without their big guy, 6-5 Tom Wood, who was sidelined by a swollen ankle received in a practice session. Coach Tony Barnak said the injury may keep his team captain out of action until after the holidays.

A lopsided first period in which the home team outdistanced Lawrence, 22-10, provided a cushion which the Beavers managed to narrow in all four periods to 33-29.

In all, 10 players scored for PHS, in what was its most balanced scoring attack to date. Marty Hines, 14 points, Rich Vail, 13, and Joe Kuley, 10, hit double figures.

BUSINESS In Princeton

TWO PAPERS MERGE

Herald and Packet join. The Princeton Herald and the Princeton Packet will merge on January 1. It was announced this week by Frederick S. Osborne, editor of The Herald, and Edward P. Burke, editor of the Packet.

Mr. Osborne will join The Packet as associate editor. James W. Samuels, The Herald's advertising manager, will join the advertising staff of The Packet.

Unaffected by the merger of the two newspapers is the job printing department. The Herald on Chambers Street, Mr. Osborne will continue to manage that operation, while Mr. Samuels will continue to be associated with The Herald's job printing.

Mr. Burke said that the merger "will make possible a stronger newspaper to better serve the community." The Herald was established in 1923 by the late Mrs. Harriet Samuels. Mr. Osborne has been associated with it since its first issue.

GROUP HEARS COSBY

On "Tight Money," William Cosby, President of the Princeton Bank and Trust Co., spoke at the December meeting of the Princeton Real Estate Group, held at the Peaceock Inn. Twenty-four members representing 12 offices were present.

Mr. Cosby described financial situations prevailing at both the local and the national level. He explained the reasons for the "tight money" market, and discussed conditions which have made mortgage money scarce. The bank president recommended that while present circumstances continue, owners be encouraged to take a first mortgage in order to enable a buyer to finance the purchase of a home.

BEST SEASON EVER

Says Princeton Postmaster. There will be no lack of holiday mail at the Princeton Post Office.

Postmaster John L. Dilworth, in praising the people of Princeton for their "magnificent cooperation," reports, "It now appears that every piece of mail that leaves the post office by Thursday noon or is received for local delivery by 9 a.m. Saturday will be delivered by Christmas Eve."

The busiest day was December 14, when an estimated 700,000 pieces of mail were handled by post office workers. More than 1,100 persons visited the post office and bought 68,200 stamps. According to postal officials, the day was the busiest since the post office moved into the present building in November, 1954.

"Use of the ZIP Code and early mailing helped us move more mail with a greater efficiency than ever before," Mr. Dilworth added. "Without the excellent public response, we would not have been able to do the job alone."

EXPANSION PLANNED

By Mobil Research Center. The Mobil Oil Corporation has announced it will expand its Central Research Division Laboratory on the Pennington-Tocky Hill Road in Hopewell Township.

Plans call for construction of a 12,000-square foot wing to the main laboratory building and a 4,000 square foot library. Completion is expected during the summer of 1967.

The new wing will house additional labs and offices for the scientific staff. Also included will be a new center for the Division's electronic computing facilities. At present, Mobil employs 143 scientists, technicians and allied personnel at the research center.

The new library building—designed to blend with the center's architectural style, which was set by the Georgian design of the original house on the 315-acre farm purchased in 1856—will replace the present library space which is no longer adequate. More than 8,000 technical volumes serve the needs of the scientific staff.

NEW JOB FOR PRESS

To Publish Bollingen Works. Princeton University Press has completed an agreement with the Bollingen Foundation by which the Press will take over the responsibility of publishing and distributing scholarly works sponsored by the educational foundation.

The Bollingen Foundation supports scholarly research and writing through grants, scholarships and contributions. In its 20 year history, it has published about 100 volumes in fields ranging from archeology to literary criticism. The Foundation's current publisher, Pantheon Books, will continue to distribute Bollingen works until next July, when the University Press will take over distribution. The Press will gradually assume responsibility for the entire publishing program.

News Of The CHURCHES

A MAN LIKE SANTA
Lives Down The Road. There is no telling where the spirit of Christmas may turn up. All over the Princeton community there are Santa Clauses at work, although you need a keen eye to find them out. For instance, in Lawrenceville, there is a tiny, 75-year-old Latin and Greek scholar, Robert S. Hendrickson.

Tennessee mountain children at five churches will be opening their gifts this Christmas, and they wouldn't know their Lawrenceville Santa if they saw him. They might concede he is Santa Claus because his hair is white and his smile is merry, but he is not packed with flesh where Santa is supposed to be. Since 1940, Mr. Hendrickson has seen to their Christmas joy. The elves helping him have been the children of Lawrenceville Presbyterian church, some now grown with children of their own to help him.

How It All Began. The story really goes back to 1924, when Mr. Hendrickson was at the faculty at The Lawrenceville School and a teacher in the church's Sunday School. The pastor's wife, Mrs. Parke Richards, sent a package or two to a Presbyterian mission in Tennessee with Mr. Hendrickson's help.

A few were sent each year, the amount growing, and in 1940, when Mr. Hendrickson became Sunday school superintendent, he involved the entire Sunday School in the project. "I've been doing this for 26 years now," he says, "retired from both schools."

He collects, packages and mails boxes of new or nearly new gifts "for children only." Games, books, toys, school supplies, most of them gift wrapped and identified "for a boy age 8" or "for a little girl," are brought to the church early in November, when a special Sunday for the "Gathering of the Gifts" is set aside.

"We have been sending 8, 10, or 12 packages to Tennessee each year, but last year it was 17 and this year 26. It has been growing tremendously," he says.

The boxes go to the Rev. Andrew Albert to distribute in the six churches he serves in the Cookeville, Tenn. area. "Andrew has the names of all the children and their ages and has a pretty good idea of the things they are fond of." About 90 children are on the list, 15 in each mission.

SANTA CLAUS: Robert Hendrickson, 75, of Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, has for 26 years made Christmas brighter for the children of six churches in the Tennessee mountain area. Story this page.

church school. And the children have written funny little letters to the children of the Lawrenceville Sunday school. Mr. Hendrickson reports, saying little of his own role.

"Andrew has a terrible lot to do down here. I don't see how he does it—six missions! They are terribly poor people. I know that Andrew asked one boy who he was in Sunday School and not his sister. He was told, 'Because it's my turn to wear the shoes today.'"

Mr. Hendrickson, a graduate of Mercersburg Academy and Princeton University Class of 1913, taught at Lawrenceville from 1913 until 1959. He has been tutoring in Latin and Greek since his retirement. He was born in Lawrenceville and moved from Monroe Avenue to Cranbury not long ago.

He has been doing all of the packing himself, but this year for the first time found a rather hard work. He looks forward to assistance from the Youth Fellowship next year. An alone and gentle man who, like Santa, expects no thanks, Mr. Hendrickson will spend his Christmas with relatives in Mammouth, Ill., far from the merriment of the Tennessee children.

CHRISTMAS BEGINS With Special Services. The feast of the Nativity, with paganism recalling Christ's birth in Bethlehem, will be observed in Princeton churches with traditional services recalling the Christmas story dear to the heart of every Christian. Special musical programs will offer oratorios by the masters.

At First Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. Donald
